So, I didn't recall seeing this email yesterday, so I searched my folders and somehow it must have accidentally ended up in my deleted items. This sometimes happens when Outlook is responding very slowly and there is a delay when you execute a command. Truly I was not blowing it off!

Regulations

§60.1 Applicability.

(a) ...

(b) Any new or revised standard of performance promulgated pursuant to section 111(b) of the Act shall apply to the owner or operator of any stationary source which contains an affected facility, the construction or modification of which is commenced after the date of publication in this part of such new or revised standard (or, if earlier, the date of publication of any proposed standard) applicable to that facility.

(c) In addition to complying with the provisions of this part, the owner or operator of an affected facility may be required to obtain an operating permit issued to stationary sources by an authorized State air pollution control agency or by the Administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) pursuant to Title V of the Clean Air Act (Act) as amended November 15, 1990 (42 U.S.C. 7661). For more information about obtaining an operating permit see part 70 of this chapter.

§ 71.3 Sources subject to permitting requirements.
